
World truth is scored independently. Authentic provenance does not authorize an action; a policy-valid proof can still encode a false claim after the authority cut is crossed.